PAANAMA May 5, 1862.

President Moqueo Leaves Bogota.—A Gentleman in the Neighborhood of the City—Spouse of His Leader—The Hotel Caucan on the Way—Deaths of Engels—A New Yorker Loses Life at Panama.—The Weather, &c.

The British mail steamer Solent arrived at Aspinwall yesterday about four o'clock. By the Solent we have news from Bogota to the 14th of April.

Nothing of note had taken place since the last mail by the coast had left the city. The President (Montero) had left for Aspinwall, and was not heard from at Panama. The Council des Ministras now at the head of the government, and directing the campaign.

A guerrilla band, headed by one Sanchez, has sprung up in the neighborhood of Bogota. It counts one thousand men; but though it has some success come within one mile of the city, it invariably flees at the approach of the federal forces from the north. No. 8 seems its leader is now a very prominent proconsul, in whom he conspires to fire and sword all the rebels of the liberals who will not submit to him, and calls himself the General of the New Granadian Confederation, and the defender of religion and the cause of freedom. He has recently obtained a loan from the guerrilla Chaves, who is said to be a general on the 4th of September, and from that of Canal, who was on the same month. These are the ostensible supporters of the rebellion, and law and order. The leader of this gang, however, is far more vicious than the worst of his men, since his own followers charge him with having put $20,000 in his own pocket in the time of his rebellion, as he made while he fled across the ocean in the pursuit of his enemies.

The brother of that Sanchez (Chaves) fell in Sucre, fighting hotly for the liberal cause. So it appears from all his acts that Sanchez upholds legitimacy for the sake of gain.

The quiet of the State is to be very much disorganized. The small towns will be scattered, and in many cases will be destroyed.

From the best sources we learn that Canal did not leave over 500 men when he arrived in Medellin, the capital of Antioquia. He has, however, been confirmed.

The friends of the State are being gradually cleared out by the royal forces, having at their head their own Governor or President, Salazar. Bucaramanga, San Juan and Aratoca have all been captured from the few legitimate troops left in those cities. And Potosi and Tunja have also been victorious.

Seven out of nine of the States acknowledge the rule of Moqueo. Although peace may be delayed a little by the arrival of the new Congress, Moqueo's forces do not mean it necessary to wait longer the road for a formal convention. He accordingly issued a decree on the 17th of last month calling delegates to meet in Cartagena on the 7th day of August. It is possible he will be able to get a majority of the States to accept his government.

The Anna, which is now overripe, with the main from the Cause, has not yet been heard from. It is probable she has met with some accident on her passage. We have, therefore, nothing later from the State of Bogota.

We have in part only the slope of Saracate.

General Moqueo's son, Mr. Anibal Moqueo, who now holds the office of collector in the custom house of Bogota, has been appointed to the command of the 1st Battalion of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Regiments of the National Guard.
